1969

In 2009, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation turned 40 years old. An anniversary provides an opportunity to both celebrate your past and look toward the future. For an organization such as ours, we look to our donors for it’s their stories, both past and present, that make our story possible.

Our Founders: John & Eleanor Kirkpatrick

By the late 1960s, John and Eleanor Kirkpatrick were well established philanthropists known for their love for their community. Natives of Oklahoma City, they were generous supporters of many charitable projects as well as the founding benefactors for organizations such as the Oklahoma City Museum of Art. Recognizing the need to create an opportunity that would encourage others to support charitable organizations, Mr. Kirkpatrick worked with attorney Don Ellison to investigate the benefits of a community foundation. After exhaustive research of the most respected community foundations in the country, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation was established in 1969.

The Kirkpatricks created this unique opportunity for fellow residents as well as provided the initial leadership, contributions and support for the first key years. The couple also continued to lead by example. Between 1979-92, they funded seven dollar-for-dollar match opportunities for charitable organizations with endowments at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. These matches provided the organizations a chance to not only increase their permanent endowment funds but also helped them to identify new donors throughout the community who supported a wide variety of charitable organizations, just as the Kirkpatricks hoped it would. As Mr. Kirkpatrick once said: “It’s important to be broad in our support. If you have a sore toe, the whole body suffers.”

In 1989, the couple established the Kirkpatrick Family Fund, the single largest endowment at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. Today, their grandson Christian K. Keesee provides leadership for the fund’s Trustees, ensuring that his grandparents’ legacy continues to enrich the overall community. In 2008, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation and the Kirkpatrick Family Fund jointly offered the John Kirkpatrick Centennial Endowment Challenge, a match opportunity offered in celebration of the 100th anniversary of Mr. Kirkpatrick’s birth. The challenge added almost $4 million to 280 participating organizations’ endowment funds and attracted gifts from nearly 3,000 individual donors.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick died in 1997. Mr. Kirkpatrick remained active and interested in the Oklahoma City Community Foundation and the community overall until shortly before his death at the age of 98 in 2006. As we celebrate our 40th anniversary and take a moment to acknowledge our successes, we thank the couple who made it all possible and wrote the first crucial chapters of our story.
Special Care provides educational and therapeutic child care for children with disabilities and support services for their families. The organization has received several grants from the Florida M. Knight Trust.
The Seventies

Florida M. Knight: A desire to help children

A working woman ahead of her time, Florida M. Knight became the sole owner of the family business in 1924 following her divorce. In addition to being a businesswoman and a single mother to two children, Mrs. Knight was a noted child advocate. She devoted her time and resources to improving the health and well being of disabled children through her support of orphanages and other children-related charities. She also made possible the installation of a stained glass window titled “Jesus Blessing the Little Children” for the Wesley United Methodist Church sanctuary.

Although she sold her business in 1928, Mrs. Knight maintained ownership of several commercial buildings in downtown Oklahoma City. A thoughtful woman with a vision for fulfilling her passion, Mrs. Knight placed a building located at 314 Park Avenue in a trust with a provision that income derived from the building be used to help children “find happiness in spite of their handicaps.”

Mrs. Knight eventually moved to California where she died in 1964, and the Park Avenue building was later torn down. In 1977, her family transferred the trust’s assets to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation where the Florida M. Knight Trust was established as a Field of Interest Fund.

Over the past 32 years, the trust has awarded numerous grants to nonprofit organizations who work with children with disabilities including Coffee Creek Riding Center, The Children’s Center and Special Care to name a few. For Special Care, grants from the Florida M. Knight Trust have supported tuition assistance, basic medical care and training for staff. Pam Newby, executive director, says the grants have made a real impact on the children in her care.

“Because of the support of the Florida M. Knight Trust, laughter and happiness is now part of their lives and they know that they are accepted for the wonderfully unique children they are with no imposed limits on who they can become,” Newby says. “The only thing that could make us even happier would be if Mrs. Knight could see firsthand the difference she has made.”

Noteworthy Events

Colorado Springs, Colorado banker Jasper D. Ackerman made a $25,000 gift to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation for the benefit of the National Cowboy & Western Heritage Museum. The gift established the first endowment fund for the sole benefit of a sole organization. Today, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation administers the country’s largest charitable organization endowment program with 298 participating organizations and a June 30, 2009 value of $114.3 million.

1974
The Oklahoma City Community Foundation distributed $70,000 back into the community in 1974, more than double its distribution just three years earlier. The idea of a community foundation was taking hold and donor support was steadily increasing.

1979
An anonymous donor offered the first ever match challenge opportunity to charitable organizations with endowments. The challenge offered to match any funds raised by these organizations for their endowments at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. The challenge netted $740,000 which was then matched, dollar for dollar, by the donor revealed later to be John Kirkpatrick.
Noteworthy Events

As the clerk of the Oklahoma Senate for nearly 50 years, Willie Elizabeth Shipley recorded the colorful history of a young state. She was always aware that her career was only possible thanks to a scholarship that allowed her to go to college and she wanted to make that opportunity available to others like her. In 1981, a bequest from her estate established a scholarship endowment with the instructions that it be used to help “needy” Oklahoma children who desire to pursue a higher education. Today, her fund helps provide scholarships to former foster care children.

1985
Nancy B. Anthony was hired as the fourth executive director. When she joined the organization, she was the only full-time employee. The next year, Carla Pickrell was hired to oversee the administration of investments. Both Nancy and Carla remain with the staff that now includes 29 employees.

1986
Since its inception, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation had been housed within the Kirkpatrick Oil Company building at 1300 N. Broadway. In 1986, the Kerr Foundation gifted a building on Park Avenue to the organization. The building at 115 Park Avenue would remain the home for the Oklahoma City Community Foundation for eight years.

1989
In celebration of the 100th anniversary of the Land Run of 1889, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation provided $175,000 in grants to support seven major projects including the publication of a map outlining the historical highlights of the Land Run. The experience launched our focus on developing new programs and helping the community meet emerging needs and opportunities.

The Eighties

Bill Payne: Doing for others

From humble beginnings, William T. “Bill” Payne would establish himself as a well respected and successful oil man known for his business acumen and integrity.

While attending Oklahoma A&M College where he studied chemistry and bacteriology, he supported himself by selling pots and pans door to door. He went on to study microbiology as a graduate student at Massachusetts A&M and Amherst and was hired as a bacteriologist for the city of Detroit. During World War I, he joined the Army Sanitation Corps where he helped to isolate the influenza virus that caused an outbreak in 1918.

After the war, he changed the course of his life by going to work as an oil scout for Charles Colcord. In 1920, he joined with Walt Helmerich to form H&P, an oil and gas exploration company. The company would make its mark in 1936 first, with a major strike that would secure its success and second, by creating a landmark with the construction of a working rig on the lawn of the state’s capitol building. That same year, Mr. Payne would leave H&P to form Big Chief Drilling Company in Oklahoma City. His success in the industry would lead to many honors including being named the 1965 Oklahoma Oil Man of the Year.

Throughout his life, Mr. Payne lived by the adage “the price we pay for living on earth is what we do for others.” While he was appreciative for all his hard work had earned him, he never forgot where he came from. Throughout his life, he volunteered his services and time in leadership roles for more than 40 civic, educational, religious and youth organizations. He died in 1981 and through a bequest in his will he left a significant gift to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation that at the time more than doubled the organization’s assets. For the past 28 years, three generations of Mr. Payne’s family have recommended grants from the William T. Payne Fund to a variety of organizations like the Boys & Girls Club of Oklahoma County, Oklahoma Heritage Association and the Dean McGee Eye Institute.

“I think he would be pleased to know his great-grandchildren are participating in giving back to our community and state,” Nancy Payne Ellis says of her father-in-law. “We are very grateful for the opportunity he has given our family to learn about philanthropy.”
Over the past two decades, the William T. Payne Fund has recommended grants to benefit the Dean McGee Eye Institute, one of the largest ophthalmology institutes in the country. In addition to providing top-notch care for more than 120,000 patients a year, the Oklahoma City-based institute conducts an active research program into the mechanisms and treatments of eye disease. The Margaret Annis Boys Arboretum at Will Rogers Gardens is a tribute to the far-reaching impact of Miss Boys’ gift to the community.
Margaret Annis Boys: A gift of beauty

The Margaret Annis Boys Trust has had an incredible impact on the community that no one could have imagined when the fund was established at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation in 1991. From school grounds to public parks in neighborhoods and even parks for dogs, one woman’s gift of beauty has truly benefited the entire community.

When the Oklahoma City Community Foundation received the bequest from her estate, it came with the simple instructions to name the fund the Margaret Annis Boys Trust and to utilize the endowment to beautify the public parks and lands in Oklahoma City. Since the fund was established, we often get the question, “who was Margaret Annis Boys?”.

Born June 26, 1909 as the only child to Thompson Boys, an attorney, and his wife, Mabel Parish Boys, Miss Boys spent the first few years of her life on the family farm near Anadarko. The family relocated to Oklahoma City where Miss Boys attended Central High School. A 1930 graduate of the University of Oklahoma, Miss Boys was a teacher and principal at several elementary schools in Oklahoma City over a span of 42 years. She was fastidious about the appearance of the school grounds, herself and her students. She believed that children benefited from a neat and tidy environment in which to learn.

When not teaching, Miss Boys loved to travel whether it was a trip to Europe or visiting friends throughout the United States. Regardless of where she traveled, she always said Oklahoma was her favorite destination.

Described as a gracious hostess, Miss Boys had a wide circle of friends that included her bank trust officer, James M. “Mike” Early. When discussing estate plans, he asked Miss Boys what she wanted to accomplish with her estate. Considering all that she cared about, Miss Boys decided she wanted to create a fund to beautify and care for public parks and lands. Because he was already a donor to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation, Mr. Early recommended she leave a bequest to establish the trust.

Miss Boys died February 16, 1990 at the age of 80. What she left behind is a gift that will be a part of the fabric of this community for generations.

“The Oklahoma City Community Foundation has done a great job serving her wishes,” says Doris Orahood, a close friend and confidante of Miss Boys. “She would be overwhelmed with the outstanding beautification projects funded through her trust. It gives me great pleasure to have known her. She was a real lady!”

Noteworthy Events

The Board of Trustees held its first ever long range planning retreat to discuss the organization’s past and set goals for the future. A mission statement was created to provide direction for staff and Trustees.

1994
When the Deer Creek Community Enrichment Foundation converted its assets to establish an Affiliated Fund, a move that required a minimum balance of $500,000, it was the first Affiliated Fund established to benefit a public school foundation.

1995
The April 19 bombing of the Murrah Federal Building changed the fabric of Oklahoma City forever. Our community’s tragedy became the nation’s tragedy and contributions of support for the 168 victims, the survivors and their families began pouring in. Because of an existing relationship at that time with nearly 200 nonprofit organizations, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation was able to take a lead role in helping the community respond. The Disaster Relief Fund was established when the assets of several temporary funds were transferred to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. Nearly 15 years later, the fund continues to assist the victims’ family, survivors and first responders and to provide scholarship assistance.

1998
The Trustees established the Trustee Scholarship Initiative to ensure high school seniors in central Oklahoma who had a desire to continue their education had the opportunity to do so. The initiative is comprised of five programs that award scholarships to a variety of students. The program includes every high school in Oklahoma County, both public and private.
Jack Canine: Sharing his passion

Jack Canine is passionate about the banjo. So much so that he named his manufacturing company The Banjo Corporation. Thanks to his passion and generosity, the instrument that traces its American roots to the 1650s now has a museum fitting its rich history.

The founder and former owner of the Indiana-based Banjo Corporation, Mr. Canine has played the banjo for most of his life. He began his collection while in his 30s. In 1998, together with Midwest City attorney and fellow banjo enthusiast Brady Hunt, Mr. Canine established the National Four-String Banjo Hall of Fame Museum with the donation of his more than 60 ornately decorated four-string tenor and plectrum banjos, the signature instruments associated with the Jazz Age. Located in Guthrie, the newly-founded museum immediately held the distinction of having the world’s largest banjo collection on public display.

In 2008, Mr. Canine helped the museum secure nearly 200 American-made Jazz Age banjos from a private collection. As a result, the museum’s board determined the original museum site in Guthrie was not adequate for such a large collection. With Mr. Canine’s support, the organization purchased a building in Oklahoma City’s Bricktown entertainment district and changed its name to the American Banjo Museum. At the same time, Mr. Canine established a $5 million permanent endowment at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation for the long-term benefit of the museum.

“My passion is to help establish and fund a museum which will allow people of all ages and cultural backgrounds to see and develop an appreciation for our national instrument, the banjo.” Mr. Canine said when announcing his $5 million gift to establish the endowment. “I believe this is good for our national heritage.”

With Mr. Canine’s support, the American Banjo Museum is more than a collection of instruments. Open since September 2009, the museum now has the ability to tell the entire 350-year evolution of the banjo from introduction to America by African slaves to its highest level of popularity during the 1920s and 1930s to its role within Bluegrass and Western music. The museum also features a replica of a Shakey’s Pizza Parlor where live banjo music was a staple. As an educational and research facility, the museum houses an extensive collection of recordings, films, periodicals and memorabilia, all now available to future generations thanks to one man’s passion.
Banjo enthusiast and industrialist Jack Canine established a $5 million endowment for the benefit of the American Banjo Museum.
Anniversaries, by definition, commemorate important events within our lives. The founding of the Oklahoma City Community Foundation in 1969 certainly was an important event in the life of this community and the surrounding area. Our 40th anniversary offers a reason to celebrate and acknowledge the impact we’ve helped donors make over the past four decades. But in place of dinners and speeches, we decided to focus our celebration on providing support for several key projects that gave back to the community on a variety of levels. Below are highlights of several 40th anniversary projects:

2009 Guidance Counselor Summer Institute

The Central Oklahoma Guidance Counselor Network is a vital part of our Trustee Scholarship Initiative and provides an important support system for the participating counselors representing 50 high schools. Through the network, we provide free resources including workshops so the counselors can utilize the information to encourage their students to aspire to higher levels of educational achievement after high school and to explore a broader range of opportunities. In 2009, we offered the Guidance Counselor Summer Institute, a two-day training workshop that would be taught by members of the College Board. The institute was opened to all network counselors at no cost and covered relevant topics such as working with undocumented, tribal and first-generation students, writing letters of recommendation and communicating with colleges and universities. Thirty-five counselors attended the institute. For more information, please see page 63.

Get Reading Oklahoma

Recent statistics show that more than 140,000 adults living in Oklahoma County read at or below the basic literacy level. To address the situation and to find a way to reach a greater number of adults, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation purchased the broadcast rights to two innovative adult literacy television series created by PBS LiteracyLink: TV411 and GED Connection and arranged to have them broadcast statewide for a year.

TV411 is a 30-episode television series created by PBS that is designed to give adults strategies for managing their family’s health and finances while improving their literacy skills so they can serve as their own best advocates. The episodes use everyday situations in order to improve and expand vocabulary, calculate sales prices or interest rates and understand family health and nutrition.

GED Connection is a 39-episode program that helps adults who are studying for the GED exam. The programs include all five subject areas covered on the exam. Episodes for both programs are 30 minutes in length. Get Reading Oklahoma has brought together a wide range of partners for whom we are very thankful: Oklahoma Department of Libraries, Central Oklahoma Workforce Investment Board, Oklahoma Department of Education, the Metropolitan Library System, the Oklahoma Department of Corrections and Tyler Media. For more information please see page 59 or visit www.getreadingoklahoma.org.
John Kirkpatrick Centennial Endowment Challenge

In 2008, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation and the Kirkpatrick Family Fund offered a matching grant opportunity in recognition of the 100th anniversary of the birth of our founder, John E. Kirkpatrick. The grant opportunity offered participating endowments – both for charitable organizations and scholarship funds – a dollar-for-dollar match up to $5,000 for contributions made to their funds at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation between February 1 and December 31, 2008. In addition, the Kirkpatrick Family Fund offered a larger match opportunity – the 100th Birthday Celebration Challenge – to 23 organizations with specific endowment building plans. These organizations had until June 30, 2009 to complete their matches. Between the two match opportunities, 280 charitable organization endowments and scholarship funds participated and increased their funds by nearly $4 million thanks to almost 3,000 gifts from donors. Both challenges carried on the legacy of Mr. Kirkpatrick.
Dear Donors and Friends of the Oklahoma City Community Foundation:

The economic crisis of 2008-09 left no one untouched. While the Oklahoma City Community Foundation felt the impact, our commitment to a long-term investment strategy helped to buffer the most severe effects suffered by other foundations. During our 40-year history, we have survived a variety of economic challenges and the one constant through all the years is our donors, who remain passionate and generous. Below are highlights from fiscal year 2009:

Investment Challenge
During the year, the Investment Committee met seven times, closely monitoring the economic impact on our endowment. By following a very disciplined approach to rebalancing, we were able to survive the economic storm with as little damage as we could have hoped. This past year underlined the need for investment policies such as ours that emphasize both quality and diversification. And even with the investment challenge, our donors continued to give: between July 1, 2008 and June 30, 2009, we received more than $19 million in gifts and 44 new funds were established.

Long Range Plan
During a day-long planning retreat, the Trustees addressed the need to update our long range plan. Also attended by key staff, the retreat provided a great opportunity for everybody to collectively understand the opportunities and challenges facing our organization. A formal report will be finalized in late 2009.

John Kirkpatrick Centennial Endowment Challenge
We are pleased to report that 280 endowment and scholarship funds participated and increased their funds by nearly $4 million thanks to almost 3,000 gifts as part of the John Kirkpatrick Centennial Endowment Challenge. Thanks to all of you who made gifts during the challenge.

Get Reading Oklahoma
In 2009, we obtained the broadcast rights of two high-quality television series created for adults who need help with basic math, reading and writing skills and preparation for the GED exam. More than a third of adults living in our state are considered functionally illiterate. Thanks to great partnerships with OETA, Cox Communications and the Oklahoma Department of Education, these programs are accessible for residents across the state. In addition, we provided DVD sets of both series to more than 100 adult literacy programs throughout the state. For more on Get Reading Oklahoma, please see page 59.

Awareness Efforts
We produced six new commercials that aired on network and cable television during the fall and late spring. The commercials feature living donors who in their own words discuss how they have worked with the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to make a difference. We also launched a redesigned Web site and added online planned giving resources for both donors and professional advisors.

Community Programs
We offered two Great Boards-Great Organizations training sessions at no cost to nonprofit organizations with endowments. The series was developed to work with organizational teams (staff and board members) to explore the characteristics of a great organization, help them find their own “greatness” and help board members develop leadership skills. Staff and board members from 21 organizations participated. Read more about the program on page 57. We also hosted the Summer Institute for Guidance Counselors, a two-day opportunity for high school guidance counselors to learn the latest on college admissions. See page 63 for details.

As you can tell, it was a busy and at times challenging year. And while 2009 marked our 40th year as a community foundation, we opted to celebrate not by hosting a glamorous gala but instead by finding ways to continue to help the community. In that light, we had a very good year. We hope you agree.

The Oklahoma City Community Foundation offers a variety of current and planned giving opportunities that can help individuals and families reach both their charitable and financial goals. Whether it’s a current gift or part of your estate plans, we can assist with your philanthropic planning.

Types of Funds We Offer:

Affiliated Funds: An Alternative to Private Foundations
An Affiliated Fund is a 509(a)(3) supporting organization and offers the type of donor involvement available through a private foundation but without many of the restrictions. In addition, the administrative support we provide makes an Affiliated Fund a very cost-effective option.

Advised Funds
We offer three options of Advised Funds that make charitable giving simple and flexible for donors. For more information on our Advised Fund options, please visit www.occf.org/fundoptions.

Charitable Organization Endowments
In 1970, one gift from one donor established the first charitable organization endowment at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. That gift launched what is today the largest endowment program for charitable organizations in the United States with 290 nonprofits participating in the program. You may want to consider a gift to an existing organizational endowment or creating a fund that benefits a specific organization. For a list of charitable organization endowments administered by the Oklahoma City Community Foundation during fiscal year 2009, please see pages 37-41.

Scholarship and Award Funds
With oversight for more than 100 scholarship and award funds, we administer the state’s largest independent scholarship program. The funds provide support for individuals who are seeking to improve themselves through higher education or additional post-high school training. For a list of Scholarship and Award Funds, please see pages 46-47.

Field of Interest Funds
If you are interested in supporting a general charitable area – such as foster children, the environment, animal welfare – you may want to consider a Field of Interest Fund. This type of endowment allows you to target the benefit of the fund to a type of charitable need and allows the Oklahoma City Community Foundation Trustees to administer the fund accordingly. Field of Interest Funds are listed on pages 44-45.

Unrestricted Funds
Donors can also choose to make a gift to an Unrestricted Fund. The Fund for Oklahoma City represents a compilation of Unrestricted Funds and serves as the primary funding source for our Community Programs. In addition, the Trustees can approve grants from Unrestricted Funds to support new programs and services that meet the broader need of the community. For a list of Fund for Oklahoma City grants made in fiscal year 2009, please see page 64.

Types of Gifts We Accept:

Once you determine the type of charitable fund you’d like to establish, the next step is deciding what and when to give. Below are the types of gifts we accept:

Cash Gifts
Cash is one of the easiest ways to make a charitable contribution. A cash contribution to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation can be in the form of cash, check, money order or cashiers check. We also accept credit card gifts to existing endowments online via a secure Web site at www.occf.org/donate.

Real Estate
Real estate may be given at appraised value. If appreciated, capital gains tax may be avoided on the real estate appreciation if the property is contributed directly to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. Gifting real estate may allow you to preserve liquid assets while maximizing your charitable contributions.

Business-Related Assets
We are able to accept gifts of individually-owned business assets such as closely held C-corp. and S-corp. stock, partnerships and LLCs.

Stocks, Bonds and Mutual Funds
If appreciated, marketable or closely-held securities such as stocks, bonds and mutual funds can offer you significant tax savings while maximizing their charitable contributions. The securities may be given so that you receive an income tax deduction equal to the fair market value of the donated assets while avoiding the capital gains tax. We have accounts at most brokerage firms and can arrange for the transfer of the donated securities.

Oil and Gas Interests & Royalty Interests
Both oil and gas royalty interests may also be donated to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. The contribution of oil and gas interests may allow for the preservation of liquid assets while maximizing the charitable contributions.

Life Insurance
Life insurance can be an effective means to fund a charitable giving plan without significant outlays of cash. Since life insurance generally results in a large payment at one time, this can be an ideal vehicle to initiate family philanthropy through the establishment of an advised fund.
Giving Later: Your Options

Making a planned gift to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation is a simple and flexible way to make a lasting impact on the community. A planned gift can provide income now and benefit one or more charitable interests later. For more information, please visit www.occf.org/givinglater or contact Joe Carter at 405/606-2915 or j.carter@occf.org.

What is a planned gift?
A planned or deferred gift describes any charitable gift that is made as part of a donor’s tax or estate plan, that may provide an income benefit to the donor or that provides a tax-deduction exceeding a single-year. The Oklahoma City Community Foundation recognizes that each individual’s planned giving needs and desires are unique and, as a result, we offer donors the options outlined on this page. We encourage anyone considering a planned gift to charity to discuss this option with their professional advisor. For more information on how we can work with you and your advisor, please contact Joe Carter at 405/606-2914 or j.carter@occf.org.

Charitable Gift Annuities
A charitable gift annuity (CGA) provides individuals 55 years or older with not only income for life but also the peace of mind of making a difference through a lasting gift to the community. Through a CGA, you can make a gift with cash or other assets of at least $20,000, receive income for life and, at the end of the annuity, the remaining assets will go to the charitable fund or funds of your choosing. We offer six CGA options.

Charitable Remainder Trusts
A charitable remainder trust allows you to place assets in a trust that pays annual income to you or a beneficiary for life or a term of years. You can avoid capital gains tax on the donated assets and also receive an income tax deduction for the fair market value of the remainder interest of the trust. In addition, the trust is removed from the estate, reducing subsequent estate taxes. Upon the trust’s termination, the remaining assets will benefit an existing endowment or advised fund.

Charitable Lead Trusts
A charitable lead trust allows you to transfer assets to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation that then pays a percentage of the assets’ value to an endowment you’ve designated. At the end of the trust term, the remaining assets are passed on to designated heirs. Charitable lead trusts offer several advantages including greatly discounted gift or estate taxes and any growth in the assets will be free of these taxes for the heirs. In certain cases, a charitable lead trust may also provide an income tax deduction at the time the trust is created.

Retirement Plan Assets
Retirement plan assets are subject not only to estate taxes, but also income taxes. To reduce this burden on heirs and to create a charitable legacy, you can use any retirement plan asset to maximize charitable contributions by establishing an Advised Fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. Your heirs can serve as advisors to the fund, ensuring that your charitable interests are continued into the future. NOTE: If you turn 70 ½ years of age in 2009, you may want to consider a charitable IRA rollover.

Bequests
With a bequest, you can designate a percentage, the residual or their entire estate to benefit an existing fund or to establish a new fund. This option may provide you and your family with substantial reductions in federal estate taxes. We offer sample bequest language at www.occf.org.

Wilson Arts
Wilson Arts was formed in 1999 by residents living near Wilson Elementary School to provide ongoing support for the school’s faculty, staff and arts integration programs. Founded in 1919, Wilson Elementary is one of the oldest schools in the Oklahoma City Public School District serving the children of its surrounding neighborhoods including Heritage Hills and Mesta Park. In 1998 Wilson became the state’s first arts integration specialty school and is a partner school with the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C. and the Black Liberated Arts Center, Inc. in Oklahoma City. Wilson’s classroom teachers and fine arts specialists work as a team to integrate the arts with standard classroom subjects. Today the school is one of the top performing elementary schools in the district. In 2005, Wilson Arts was formed as a nonprofit organization to facilitate a capital campaign to build additional classrooms and increase support for the school’s arts program. In fiscal year 2009, Wilson Arts received a grant from an Advised Fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation.
Special Donors

A Special Donor Fund offers flexibility and simplicity to the donors who establish them and is a powerful alternative to a private foundation. Funds are established with minimum gifts of $500,000. Camp Chaverim

Since 1987, Camp Chaverim, offered by the Jewish Federation of Greater Oklahoma City, has provided a summer day camp for children ages 2 to 13. In a safe and nurturing day camp environment on the grounds of Temple B’nai Israel in north Oklahoma City, the campers participate in activities designed to boost their self esteem while fostering creativity, good deeds and fair play.

The 2009 camp theme Tikkun Olam (Hebrew for “repair of the world”) inspired the campers to take part in special projects including providing community service to groups such as Regional Food Bank of Oklahoma and Infant Crisis Services. Because chaverim means friends in Hebrew, the Jewish campers and staff share the songs, rituals and celebrations of their faith with their non-Jewish camp friends in a fun and informal setting. Typically, nearly half of the more than 100 campers each summer are non-Jewish.

Camp Chaverim is underwritten in large part by the Jewish Federation of Greater Oklahoma City through grants from the Oklahoma City Jewish Community Foundation endowment fund.

Making an impact through World Neighbors

Through their Family Affiliated Fund, John and Claudia Holliman are able to make an impact on the causes that matter to them, such as supporting the efforts of World Neighbors. Established in Oklahoma City in 1951, the nonprofit is an international development organization that strives to eliminate hunger, poverty and disease in the most deprived rural villages in Asia, Africa and Latin America. World Neighbors invests in people and their communities by training them to create their own life-changing solutions through programs in agriculture, literacy, water, health and environmental protection.

World Neighbor’s programs seek to overcome gender barriers to ensure that women benefit equally with men. In many of the settings they work in such as Nepal, women’s rights have not been a priority or viewed as necessary. World Neighbors addresses gender and women’s rights by making it clear to the communities that by making changes in gender relations, the communities will be better able to meet their basic needs.

“Charitable gifting has brought us much enjoyment for many years,” John adds. “We expect to enjoy this pleasure for the rest of our lives and are confident our Affiliated Fund will continue to benefit new generations long into the future.”

Trustees: Nancy Anthony, Marge Downing, Jane Harlow, Claudia Holliman and John Holliman.

Through their fund, the couple recommends grants to support a wide variety of projects and programs. They are ardent supporters of the Oklahoma City-based World Neighbors, an organization that educates citizens of developing countries around the world on how to become self-sufficient and improve their lives as well as helping to establish women’s rights groups in third world countries. Local grants help support animal rescue organizations, educational institutions, the Oklahoma City Philharmonic, the Oklahoma City Zoological Society and other charitable and civic organizations. “Our fund gives us so much pleasure,” Claudia explains. “We are able to focus on supporting the groups we want without having to worry about the administrative details. It really is a simple and easy way to make a visible impact on the causes about which you are passionate.”

Howard Berry Sr.

Recognized for his distinguished legal career, Howard K. Berry Sr. was the patriarch of a family yielding three generations of attorneys. Born in Illinois, he moved to Oklahoma City in 1910 at the age of four. Mr. Berry's interest in law began at an early age as he would listen to his father James Wilson Berry, Oklahoma County Clerk, discuss courtroom cases at the family dinner table.

Mr. Berry graduated from Central High School and worked as a traffic policeman. He met his wife Virginia while she was working in the Oklahoma County Court Clerk's office. Lacking a college degree, he began “reading for the bar” and in 1932 passed the bar exam on his first attempt. During World War II, Mr. Berry was drafted to serve in the U.S. Army. During his absence, he referred his clients to experienced attorneys and Mrs. Berry would monitor his cases, keeping in touch with his clients. After returning home, he re-established his practice and founded the law firm of Berry and Berry. In 1945, he served as president of the Oklahoma County Bar Association, a position his son, Howard K. Berry Jr., would later hold.

Skilled in debate, Mr. Berry was known for his persuasive arguments and dramatic presentations in the courtroom. In 1968, he became the first prosecutor under the Oklahoma Court on the Judiciary, and in 1973 was elected as the first lawyer from Oklahoma City to serve on the newly formed Oklahoma judicial nominating commission. In addition to his professional honors, Mr. Berry was also a prolific lecturer and writer. He taught at the University of Oklahoma and authored several works including the biographic novel “Moman Pruieett, Criminal Lawyer.”

Mr. Berry died in 2001, but his legacy continues. Both his son and grandson, Howard K. Berry Jr. and Howard K. Berry III are attorneys, as well as his younger brother, James W. “Bill” Berry, and nephew, James Berry. In 2008, Howard Berry Jr. established a Gift Fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to support the Howard K. Berry Sr. Award at the Oklahoma County Bar Association. “I wanted to establish a permanent annual award to honor his dedication as a father and his leadership and interest in the Oklahoma County Bar,” Howard Berry Jr. says. The award recognizes outstanding achievement and contribution to the cause of justice and the judicial system in Oklahoma County.
James Embry

James A. Embry Jr. was born and raised in Chandler. Although he moved away from the community more than 70 years ago, he continues to support his hometown through his philanthropic efforts. “Chandler was a great place to grow up and was always a place I could go back to,” Mr. Embry says.

Mr. Embry’s roots run deep in Lincoln County. His uncle John was the mayor of Chandler in 1906, and his father and brother both served as county attorney. After graduating from Chandler High School in 1933, Mr. Embry attended the Oklahoma Military Academy in Claremore and went on to graduate from the University of Oklahoma. Mr. Embry served 16 years of active duty in the U.S. Marine Corps and continued with the Marine Corps Reserve until his retirement in 1963. Following his military career, he became president of Embry Engine and Equipment Company in Houston, Texas, where he sold oilfield construction equipment.

Today Mr. Embry and his wife, Angie Hester, live in Oklahoma City. He has established permanent endowments at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation for the Lincoln County Historical Society and the American Legion Children’s Home in Ponca City. Additionally, his contributions support the City Rescue Mission, Rainbow Fleet, Salvation Army and other charitable organization endowments.

Louis B. & Anna R. Horn Heritage Fund

Lifelong members of the Herold Mennonite Church near Bessie, Louis and Anna Horn were devoted to their family and community. Growing up in the western Oklahoma community, both attended Corn Bible Academy and graduated from Corn High School. The couple married in 1940 and remained on the Horn family farm, raising two daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Horn operated a dairy farm, milking 60 or more cows twice a day for 25 years to provide a steady income for their family. This income allowed them to send their two daughters to college, an important goal for Mrs. Horn as she deeply regretted never attending college. In addition to their immediate family of four, the Horns shared their home with various other relatives throughout the years as Mrs. Horn generously offered to help care for parents, sisters, nieces and nephews in times of need.

Devout in their religion, Mr. and Mrs. Horn enjoyed serving their church and hosted an annual lye soap-making event in their home for many years. The couple planned and prepared most of the equipment for this endeavor, which yielded thousands of pounds of soap that was sent to the Mennonite Central Committee and shipped overseas to be used in hospitals, orphanages, clinics and schools in impoverished countries.

After retiring, the couple bought a camper and enjoyed traveling together across the country. Their journeys took them from Mexico to Alaska, and they always relished sharing photos from their trips. Mr. Horn died in 1985. Mrs. Horn remained active in the community and her church, and she continued to travel, visiting Israel where she delighted in “walking the paths Jesus walked.”

Following Mrs. Horn’s death in 2006, their children inherited a large amount of family land, including oil and gas leases. “My parents worked very hard throughout their lives to acquire and keep this land,” says the Horn’s daughter Jane Janzen. “We wanted to use our inheritance wisely and honor my parents’ hard work and dedication to their church and community.” In 2008, Jane and her husband, Don, established the Louis B. and Anna R. Horn Heritage Fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation in memory of her parents. The fund will support the Herold Mennonite Church, Corn Bible Academy and other charitable purposes important to the family.
Oklahoma Greenhouse Growers Association—Diane Miller

Diane Miller’s love of horticulture came naturally. Growing up in Seminole, Okla., she was inspired by her father and grandfather, Archie and W.C. Miller who founded the Miller Plant Farm in 1939. Graduating from Seminole High School in 1972, Diane attended Seminole State College and earned a bachelor’s degree from East Central University in Ada. In 1998 she took over the family business and worked with her father on the plant farm and in the greenhouse, as well as overseeing business operations until her death in 2007.

An active member of the Oklahoma Greenhouse Growers Association, Diane twice served as president and was awarded the association’s Grower of the Year award in 2007. She was a devoted supporter of the horticulture industry, serving on various committees and organizing industry bus tours, conferences and community beautification projects. An avid fan of the Oklahoma State University Cowboys, she was a proud supporter of the Oklahoma State University beautification projects. 28 OKLAHOMA CITY COMMUNITY FOUNDATION 2009 ANNUAL REPORT | BENEFACTORS
Raina & Stan Pelofsky

Although Stan Pelofsky is a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., and his wife Raina grew up in rural Oklahoma, the couple is profoundly committed to the Oklahoma City community.

Stan graduated from Long Island University in 1962 and moved to Oklahoma to attend the University of Oklahoma College of Medicine, where he graduated with a doctorate of medicine. After serving in the U.S. Navy for three years, he returned to Oklahoma to complete his residency in neurological surgery at the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center. Today, Dr. Pelofsky is a widely recognized neurosurgeon in Oklahoma and continues the practice he established in 1973 with Neuroscience Specialists, the largest neurosurgical practice in the state.

Born in New Orleans, La., Raina moved to Oklahoma as a young girl and graduated from Crescent High School. She attended Northeastern Oklahoma State University where she received a bachelor’s degree in English education and later obtained a master’s degree in social work from the University of Houston. Following graduate school, Raina served as a social worker for a children’s shelter in Dallas for two years before moving to Oklahoma City where she worked for several years at Positive Tomorrows.

Married for 10 years, the Pelofskys are deeply involved in the Oklahoma City community, specifically projects and organizations promoting the arts and historic preservation. Raina serves on the Mesta Park Neighborhood Association board, chairs the Historic Preservation Review Committee and is the chair and secretary for the Shartel Boulevard Development Authority, Inc. Additionally, the couple was instrumental in the establishment of endowment funds for both organizations at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. Their charitable gifts support these endowments, as well as the Hillel Foundation—University of Oklahoma.

“We believe this city has given us so much professionally and personally that we hope to give back more than we have received,” Raina says. “These organizations are important to us because we live here and they represent our commitment to improve our small corner of the world. Nothing gives me more joy than taking a morning walk through my neighborhood and greeting my neighbors by name, passing the trees I helped to plant and water and gazing upon the historic homes I helped to protect.”
Rozin-Funk Pancreatic Cancer Research Fund

Growing up in the Bronx, N.Y., Leonard Rozin was no stranger to hard work. As a young boy he worked alongside his father selling fruits and vegetables from a horse-drawn wagon. As a college student, he worked a number of jobs to pay for his education at City College in New York, where he earned a bachelor’s degree in bacteriology in 1949. He then attended the University of Kansas, where he met his wife Zel, a fellow graduate student. Having earned a bachelor’s degree in music education from Southern Methodist University in her native Texas, Zel came to the University of Kansas to pursue a master’s degree in music therapy. The two were married in 1954, and in 1959 Dr. Rozin graduated from the University of Kansas School of Medicine.

After completing an internship in Brooklyn, N.Y., the Rozins moved to Oklahoma where Dr. Rozin was a member of the first class of family practice residents at the University of Oklahoma Medical School. He completed his residency in 1961 and began practicing medicine in south Oklahoma City. In 1965, Dr. Rozin opened his private practice, the Rozin Clinic, where he served the needs of patients for the next 34 years. Although he retired from private practice in 1999, he continued practicing medicine and seeing patients in nursing homes until 2004 when he was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer.

The Rozins began contributing to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation in 1998 to support various endowment funds. After Dr. Rozin’s death in 2004, Mrs. Rozin continued their charitable legacy and in 2008 established the Rozin-Funk Pancreatic Cancer Research Fund in memory of her husband, mother and aunt, all of whom died of pancreatic cancer. “I created this fund to raise awareness of pancreatic cancer,” Mrs. Rozin says. “Currently no screening process exists for pancreatic cancer, and hopefully with more research and awareness of the disease we can save the lives of others before it’s too late.”

Dr. Leonard Rozin was well known for his compassion and special brand of caring for his patients. Thanks to his wife Zel, his passion for the practice of medicine continues to make a difference in patients’ lives today through the Rozin-Funk Pancreatic Cancer Research Fund.
George Miksch Sutton

Renowned ornithologist and artist George Miksch Sutton’s fascination with birds started as a young boy. Born in Nebraska, his family moved every few years and he began at an early age to collect bird skins, feathers, bones, eggs and nests from the varied areas of the country in which the family lived. At the age of 13 he completed mail-order taxidermy lessons and had developed a collection of various birds and mammals. By the time he was 16, his first bird drawing as well as several articles had been published.

Known as “Doc” to his friends, Dr. Sutton was educated at Cornell University and worked at both the Carnegie Museum and the University of Michigan’s Museum of Zoology. After serving in the Army Air Corps during World War II, his career path would eventually lead him to accept a professor of zoology position at the University of Oklahoma in 1952. In addition to his classroom responsibilities, he traveled extensively to observe habitats, collect specimens and to paint. His travels took him throughout North America including the Arctic Circle.

Although he retired in 1968, Dr. Sutton remained the curator of birds at the university’s Stovall Museum of Science and History and continued to work with graduate students and paint. A prolific storyteller and writer, Dr. Sutton was the author of 18 books and left behind numerous manuscripts following his death in 1982. Thanks to a group of friends, his last book, Birds Worth Watching, was published in 1986.

In 1971, Dr. Sutton established the George Miksch Sutton Fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to support the Oklahoma Zoological Society, encouraging the appreciation, study and preservation of bird habitats. This fund now comprises a Charitable Organization Endowment supporting the Oklahoma Zoological Society with an annual distribution.

Dr. Sutton's passion for the study of birds is also continued through the George Miksch Sutton Avian Research Center in Bartlesville, Oklahoma. Since its inception in 1983, the nonprofit organization has worked to find cooperative conservation solutions for birds and the natural world through science and education. In addition, Dr. Sutton's work can also be viewed at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation where more than 70 of his original bird paintings, that once were a part of the Kirkpatrick Center art collection, are now displayed throughout the building.
Mr. & Mrs. Lawrence V. Van Horn

High school sweethearts Lawrence and Doretha Van Horn were married for 68 years. Born in Missouri, Mrs. Van Horn moved to Baxter Springs, Kan. at the age of 10. The two met while attending Baxter Springs High School, where they both graduated. They were married in 1934 and moved to Oklahoma City. Mrs. Van Horn attended Central State Teacher’s College and Mr. Van Horn attended Oklahoma City University, where he played football, basketball and baseball as a freshman. He went on to graduate from the University of Central Oklahoma with a bachelor’s degree in business, paying his tuition with a paper route for The Daily Oklahoman and The Times.

In 1935, Mr. Van Horn joined the Capitol Steel Corporation, where he retired as chairman of the board and chief executive officer. He was also very active in civic organizations, serving as a trustee for both World Neighbors and Mercy Health Center. Beginning in 1977, the couple began contributing regularly to support the organizations for which they were passionate. Although Mr. Horn died in 2003, Mrs. Van Horn has continued the couple’s philanthropic legacy with annual gifts supporting the endowments for World Neighbors and Mercy Health Center.

Merelyn Johnson

Giving back to the community was always a priority for Merelyn Johnson. A volunteer for the University of Oklahoma Medical Center for 39 years, caring for others was a central part of her life. An Oklahoma native, Merelyn graduated from Antlers High School and went on to receive a bachelor’s degree in business administration from the University of Oklahoma. In 1955, she married Carroll Johnson and together the couple dedicated countless hours of time and energy to helping others.

Merelyn began volunteering in 1969 at the Wesley Hospital in Oklahoma City, which later became Presbyterian Medical Center. She received the Volunteer of the Year award from the University of Oklahoma Medical Center in 2003, and in 2007 the Johnsons were named Frist Humanitarian Volunteers by the Hospital Corporation of America (HCA) Foundation. The national award honors HCA volunteers who give unselfishly to their community and in service to patients. The HCA Foundation made a contribution to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation in the Johnsons’ honor to benefit Camp Cavett, a summer camp for children with life-threatening or chronic illnesses. Merelyn died in April 2009, but her legacy of selfless service will continue to help others through this generous contribution.
A distinguished Oklahoma City attorney and civic leader, Mike Stewart’s greatest joy was his family. Known as “Daddy Mike” to his grandchildren, he and his wife Betty Lou loved to entertain their grandchildren at “Camp Stewart,” holding extended family gatherings complete with touch football, card games and dancing.

Mike attended Casady School where he met his wife, Betty Lou Morgan. They were married after his graduation from Yale University in 1970. Mike served three years as an officer in the U.S. Navy and then returned to Oklahoma to attend law school. After graduating from the University of Oklahoma School of Law in 1976, Mike joined the law firm of Crowe & Dunlevy, where he served as leader of the business department and firm president. Mike was known as one of Oklahoma’s premier transactional attorneys and received many professional accolades including recognition as a top corporate mergers and acquisitions lawyer in the state by Chambers USA and listing in Best Lawyers in America for more than 10 years.

Described by friends as a generous and kind man, Mike was actively involved in the community and served in leadership roles for various organizations. Mike’s civic endeavors included serving as president of Science Museum Oklahoma and a member of the Oklahoma City Rotary Club. He was a member of the board of trustees of Casady School and served as board chairman for two years. Mike Stewart died in December 2008.

“Mike loved our community as much as anyone could,” says Jim Holloman, a longtime friend and colleague at Crowe & Dunlevy. “He also loved the Oklahoma City Community Foundation and respected it as a long-enduring institution here to serve the charitable needs of the Oklahoma City area.”

Mike and Betty Lou’s contributions to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation support Science Museum Oklahoma, Casady School and numerous other charitable organization endowments.

Laura Cross

An advocate for end-of-life issues, Laura Cross touched the lives of many Oklahomans throughout her career as both a nurse and a lawyer. Laura attended Hillcrest Nursing School in Tulsa and became a registered nurse in 1966. She went on to obtain bachelor’s and master’s degrees in nursing from the University of Oklahoma and spent more than 20 years working in the nursing profession.

After deciding to pursue a law degree, Laura graduated from the Oklahoma City University School of Law in 1988. Her contributions to the legal and nursing professions in Oklahoma made her a sought-after advisor to government officials on the subject of end-of-life care.

Laura was diagnosed with ovarian cancer in 2004 and became active in promoting awareness of the disease through the organization HOPE in Oklahoma. Following her death in 2008, the Hospice Foundation of Oklahoma created the Laura Cross Memorial Fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to support palliative care education projects.

Hospice Foundation of Oklahoma | 1998

Using the assets from the sale of its hospice operations, the Hospice Foundation of Oklahoma created an endowment fund to support palliative patient care throughout Oklahoma. Trustees: John Frank, Cecelia Hussien, James Hyde, Stephen Mason, Dr. Robert McCaffree.

Lawton Community Foundation | 1999

Since it was established in 1999, the Lawton Community Foundation has been serving the charitable needs of the Lawton area through scholarships, grants for community projects and matching opportunities for more than 20 organizations to establish charitable endowments. Initial funding came through the Lawton Retail Merchants Association. In celebration of its 10th anniversary during 2009, the Lawton Community Foundation offered a dollar-for-dollar match to the charitable organizations with endowments. For more information, please visit www.LawtonCF.org.

Oklahoma City Disaster Relief Fund | 1995

Established following the 1995 bombing of the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building, this fund holds the remaining assets of the contributions received by the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to help survivors of that tragedy. The fund continues to assist a large number of individuals and families directly impacted by the bombing. Included within the Disaster Relief Fund is the Survivors’ Education Fund which currently provides scholarships for 26 college students with more than 20 children remaining who will be eligible for assistance once they reach college age. Additionally, the relief fund continues to provide medical support and mental health counseling for those who were injured and for first responders.

The Charitable Organization Endowment Program

The Oklahoma City Community Foundation is the area’s specialist for endowment fund management and has long served as the community’s leading advocate for endowment development. Our investment, distribution and administrative policies are designed for long-term endowment growth. As of June 30, 2009, market value of the Charitable Organization Endowment Program was $114.3 million and distributions for the year were $5.4 million.

The program has provided charitable organizations a way to build endowment funds for 40 years. Because of the wide support of many donors in the community, the leadership of John E. Kirkpatrick and the participation of the 290 organizations, our Charitable Organization Endowment Program is the largest of its kind among the more than 700 community foundations in the United States.

In addition to providing administration and management of the endowments, we also offer important services for participating organizations including training, valuable online resources and access to Capacity Building grants. For more information on our Charitable Organization Endowment Program, please contact Gayle Farley at 405/606-2910 or visit www.occf.org.

Paseo Artists Association

The Paseo Artists Association was incorporated as a nonprofit organization in 1989, although the group began operating in the 1970s when the Paseo began its transition into an arts district. The organization works to preserve the historic arts district located just north of downtown Oklahoma City between Northwest 27th and Northwest 30th Streets and Walker and Lee Avenues. The Paseo Artists Association promotes cultural growth through community outreach programs and activities including the annual Paseo Arts Festival, monthly First Friday Gallery Walks, children’s programs and art exhibitions. Additionally, the group offers gallery space to showcase Oklahoma artists. Today, the Paseo is home to 17 art galleries and more than 60 artists. In 1992, the Paseo Artists Association established a charitable organization endowment at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to help support its programs.

Friends of the Mustang Public Library

The Friends of the Mustang Public Library is a nonprofit organization created in 2002 by a group of Mustang citizens led by Carolyn Klepper. “When I first came to the library, I was appalled at the condition of the children’s books,” she says. “That is why I became involved with the library; I wanted the children to have better books.” The group hosts various fundraising events and has been instrumental in assisting the library with the purchase of equipment, software and other materials.

In 2006 the organization established a charitable organization endowment at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. The annual distribution from this fund is used to support the library’s summer reading program which encourages students to continue reading during the summer break.

For a complete listing of all Charitable Organization Endowments, please see the Central Oklahoma Charities directory at www.occf.org.
St. Mary’s Episcopal School

Established in 1977, St. Mary’s Episcopal School is a faith-based private elementary school for children ages three through the fifth grade. Located in Edmond, the challenging curriculum at St. Mary’s is designed to encourage students to be resourceful and to excel academically.

In 1994, the school established a charitable organization endowment fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. Each annual distribution is reinvested into the endowment so that in the future, the distribution will support student financial assistance and teacher salaries. The group’s executive director, board president, and two board members completed the Oklahoma City Community Foundation’s Great Boards – Great Organizations program in 2009. This series of free workshops provided individualized training and assistance on nonprofit leadership, organizational governance and financial responsibility. For more information on the program, please see story on page 57.

Rainbow Fleet

Rainbow Fleet is committed to improving the quality of life for children and families in Cleveland and Oklahoma counties. A child care resource and referral program assists families in locating quality child care services, as well as providing training and resources for child care providers.

In 1979, Rainbow Fleet established a charitable organization endowment at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to support its child development services. In 2009, the organization’s executive director and three board members completed the Great Boards – Great Organizations program offered by the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. The program provides a series of training sessions designed to help nonprofits improve organizational governance, financial responsibility and leadership skills.

Field of Interest Funds

Field of Interest Fund allows donors to establish endowments that support a specific area of charitable interest. Once a Field of Interest Fund is established, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation’s Trustees then administer the fund to meet the current needs and opportunities within the designated charitable area. To establish a Field of Interest Fund, please contact Nancy B. Anthony at 405/606-2900 or n.anthony@occf.org.

In the office building where an anonymous donor worked, a blind man and his Seeing Eye dog would pass him in the hall every day. The donor came to admire the trusting relationship between the man and his dog and established a fund to help visually impaired individuals secure Seeing Eye dogs. The fund is named for the first Seeing Eye dog sponsored through the fund.

Embassy of Korea | 1975
While serving as honorary consul for the Embassy of Korea in Oklahoma City, John Kirkpatrick received a $1,000 check from the Ambassador of Korea to support special program activities in the Oklahoma City area. Mr. Kirkpatrick donated this check and many subsequent checks to establish this fund that supports Korean and other Asian cultural activities throughout the community.

Forward Oklahoma | 1997
In the early 1980s, a group of young businessmen who wanted to enhance metropolitan Oklahoma City launched an aggressive economic development program. When the group’s core members moved on to other projects, an endowment fund was established with the remaining assets. Distributions from the fund continue to support the development of Oklahoma City’s future citizens.

Hospitals and Health Care | 1971
The fund promotes health care services through grants to organizations that provide direct services such as indigent care, prescription drugs, eyeglasses, medical exams and dental care.

Florida M. Knight Trust | 1975
This fund receives and distributes the earnings of the Florida M. Knight Trust. Mrs. Knight was a local businesswoman in the 1930s who left a downtown building to the original trust. While the building is gone and her family no longer lives here, the Florida M. Knight Trust supports grants to improve the quality of life of handicapped and disabled children in the Oklahoma City area.

Lillian Frances Watts Meador | 1996
William Meador of Columbus, Ohio, established a fund in memory of his mother who loved both flowers and Oklahoma City. The earnings are used to purchase and plant hyacinth bulbs in public parks and lands and are distributed through the Margaret Annis Boys Trust grant program.

Medical Research Funds | 1986
The Oklahoma City Community Foundation has received a number of gifts to establish funds for various medical research areas. In order to have a greater impact on medical science, each year we cooperate with the University of Oklahoma College of Medicine Alumni Association, the Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation and other groups to fund research projects at those institutions. Separate funds are maintained in the following areas: Allergy Research, Arthritis Research, Diabetes Research, Heart Disease Research and Parkinson’s Disease Research.

Oklahoma City Opera Association | 1970
In the late 1960s, the Oklahoma City Opera Association sponsored opera performances. At its final meeting, the association used its remaining assets to establish an endowment.

Tinker Air Force Base - General’s Fund | 1988
Established by John Kirkpatrick to support the special needs of those serving on the base.
Additional Field of Interest Funds

The endowments of organizations that are no longer active are utilized by the Trustees to support activities related to the original intent of the endowments and are categorized as Field of Interest Funds. To further increase the impact of the following Field of Interest Funds, those with similar original intent of service (children, elderly services, access to medical care) have been pooled and grants awarded. Regional Food Bank of Oklahoma’s Food 4 Kids

Created in 2003, the Regional Food Bank of Oklahoma’s Food 4 Kids program is an emergency food assistance program designed to aid elementary school-age children. Through the program, school personnel identify chronically hungry students who are given a backpack filled with non-perishable, child-friendly food to take home over the weekend or a school holiday. The pre-assembled backpacks are supplied and delivered at no cost to participating schools by the Regional Food Bank. The program currently serves more than 7,400 children in 239 elementary schools across 37 central and western Oklahoma counties.

Thanks to a $10,000 grant awarded through the House of Representatives/Campaign for Oklahoma Kids fund the program will be expanded to include areas of the state not previously served.
Scholarship & Award Funds

Each year, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation facilitates scholarships and awards to more than 500 worthy students. This is possible thanks to the scholarship endowment funds established by individuals, families and organizations to support the educational pursuits of others. While there is a unique story behind each fund, the donors established the funds at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation because we are ideally suited for the long-term administration of a scholarship or award. If you are interested in establishing a scholarship or award endowment, please contact Anna-Faye Rose at 405/606-2902. James Whitfield
Longtime employee of Quail Creek Golf and Country Club, James Whitfield’s loyalty and dedication to his job goes above and beyond what is normally expected of any employee. In fact, his 46 years of devotion to the club’s members and employees has earned him the honorary title of club ambassador.

Born in Mississippi, James moved to Oklahoma City as a young boy and began working at the Quail Creek Golf and Country Club as a teenager in the shoe shine room. Today, as club ambassador, his welcoming face has become a fixture at the club. His love for his job has also been an influence on his family, as his daughter Jackie Adams has worked as the club receptionist for 27 years. “The club is very much a part of dad’s life,” Jackie says. “He loves it here and the members love him.”

In 2008, the Quail Creek Golf and Country Club established the James Whitfield Employee Scholarship Fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to honor Mr. Whitfield’s legacy. The fund supports a scholarship for club employees to pursue a post-secondary education.
Advised Fund Grants

An Advised Fund is the simplest and most flexible way for an individual or family to accomplish their charitable goals. An Advised Fund can be started with cash, securities, real estate or other assets such as residual beneficiary of a trust, charitable gift annuity or a life insurance policy. At the Oklahoma City Community Foundation, we offer three Advised Fund options to meet three distinct objectives: a Legacy Fund is a permanent endowment that is the best alternative to a family private foundation; a Gift Fund is ideal for the donor who wants investment performance but also wants the ability to distribute the entire gift to charity; and an Express Fund is the perfect vehicle for individuals who want to make year-end gifts of cash, appreciated stock or another non-cash asset to benefit one or more charitable programs.

The Oklahoma-based organizations listed on pages 48–51 all received at least one grant from an Advised Fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. During fiscal year 2009, Advised Fund donors recommended $4.8 million in grants. For more information on establishing an Advised Fund, please contact Jennifer Stewart at 405/606-2912 or j.stewart@occf.org. You can also visit www.occf.org/fundoptions to review Advised Fund policies and agreement forms.

Alzheimer’s Association/Oklahoma & Arkansas Chapter

Diagnosed in 2008 with early-onset Alzheimer’s disease at the age of 54, Blant Brown and his family contacted the Alzheimer's Association/Oklahoma & Arkansas Chapter for support and information. “The Alzheimer’s Association immediately reached out to us,” says Blant’s wife, Dr. Faith Phillips. “They have been instrumental in helping us form support groups with other families affected by early-onset Alzheimer’s, which has been very helpful to our family in dealing with the issues related to the disease.” In fiscal year 2009, the family recommended a grant to the organization from their Advised Fund, the H. Blanton Brown and Dr. Faith Phillips Family Fund.

Since it’s establishment in 1980, the Alzheimer’s Association has been working to eliminate Alzheimer’s disease through the advancement of research and awareness and is the largest U.S. provider of research funding for the disease. The Oklahoma and Arkansas Chapter provides services to more than 4,000 Oklahoma families every year. The group offers many services to support those affected by the disease including a 24/7 helpline, support groups, educational forums and Safe Return registration, a nationwide identification program that provides assistance when someone with Alzheimer’s becomes lost.

Regional offices in Oklahoma City and Tulsa host several events to raise money for Alzheimer’s research including the Memory Walk held annually in more than 600 communities and since 1969, have raised more than $260 million for the cause. Each year at the Oklahoma City Memory Walk, walkers and patrons can make a donation for a tribute flag in honor of a loved one impacted by Alzheimer’s. Tradition states that these Tibetan prayer flags contain prayers that are lifted to the heavens as they blow in the wind and unravel.

Committed to the needs of the community

John and Eleanor Kirkpatrick believed that a strong cultural and service community would benefit their “hometown” for generations to come. That belief has been instilled in their grandson Christian K. Keesee. As president of the Kirkpatrick Family Fund, he provides leadership for the fund’s Trustees as they continue to support ideas and organizations that contribute to the cultural landscape, health and well being of central Oklahoma and beyond.

In the current financial downturn and in anticipation of fewer available dollars for grants, this past fiscal year the Trustees took time to consider how the Kirkpatrick Family Fund would remain effective as well as responsive to the needs of the community. This turned out to be an opportunity to reaffirm the core values and the qualities the Trustees look for in the organizations we support now and into the future.

The Kirkpatrick Family Fund values commitment to mission; strength in leadership with responsible governance by board and staff; planning for the future; self evaluation; effective partnerships; and transparency in financial accounting and fundraising. The range of issues addressed by the nonprofit community in central Oklahoma is vast and the Kirkpatrick Family Fund is committed to the support of organizations that are effective in the delivery of services and programs.

During fiscal year 2009 the Kirkpatrick Family Fund made grants to 163 organizations for small and large projects, general operations and challenge grants to support efforts to build their endowments at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. Neighborhood Alliance offers various programs including Creating Responsible Neighbors, a program designed to help homeowners help themselves. In fiscal year 2009, the Kirkpatrick Family Fund awarded a grant to support and enhance the Creating Responsible Neighbors program.

A component of the Creating Responsible Neighbors program is Neighborhood Leaders for Today, a seven-week class designed to help neighborhood leaders develop the necessary skills. Community Programs

Community Programs serves as our leadership effort to identify issues, bring together partner organizations and work to find resources to generate the needed services. Through Community Programs we take a proactive approach to defining community opportunities and working with other organizations to develop and fund programs that benefit the whole community in a way that has real impact.

By focusing on specific opportunities, we are able to develop a base of knowledge about the issues, devote staff resources to needed collaboration and coordination efforts, follow the development of a program over a period of time and develop the partnerships that are required for new services to be maintained to achieve a long-term impact. Projects funded through the focus areas are stronger because we understand the underlying challenges and look for sustainable solutions. In fiscal year 2009, the focus areas were: Capacity Building, Literacy is For Everyone (LIFE) Initiative, Trustee Scholarship Initiative and the Margaret Annis Boys Trust/Parks & Public Spaces Initiative.

Our Community Programs is staffed by a team of dedicated professionals who help to coordinate the work of different organizations working on similar issues, leverage resources to maximize the impact and provide leadership to the community in these focus areas.

The Fund for Oklahoma City

A compilation of unrestricted funds, the Fund for Oklahoma City is the primary funding source for the five separate focus areas that comprise Community Programs. In fiscal year 2009, the Fund for Oklahoma City also supported several new services and programs that meet the broader needs of the community.

For a list of the grants awarded in fiscal year 2009, please see page 62.
Each August, Skyline Urban Ministries offers Clothes for Kids where school age children can pick out two new outfits for school. In 2009, the program provided clothes, underwear, socks and shoes for 1,500 students. Skyline Urban Ministries participated in the Great Boards-Great Organizations training workshop.
Capacity Building Program

Through the Capacity Building Program, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation provides resources and support to participants of the Charitable Organization Endowment Program to help improve their efficiency and effectiveness. The program offers free roundtables and workshops, a grant program and web-based resources for the 290 organizations with endowment funds at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation.

Nonprofit organizations participating in our Charitable Organization Endowment Program have access to a variety of resources through the Oklahoma City Community Foundation’s Capacity Building Program. Free roundtable luncheons for nonprofit staff are held throughout the year on topics including donor outreach, strategic planning and board management. Additionally, we coordinate Lunch for 2, a series of free continuing education workshops for certified public accountants who work for and with the organizations with charitable endowments. These workshops are held in partnership with Cole & Reed PC and provide attendees with two hours of CPE credit on topics such as compliance and tax issues.

Our Web site, www.occf.org, features several tools and services for nonprofits including Central Oklahoma Charities, an online directory of the charitable organizations we serve. This resource is the most up-to-date searchable online directory of area nonprofits and features contact information, a description of services and the ability to make an online donation to each organization. Additionally, charitable organization endowments may access their fund balances, financial statements and giving history through DonorCentral, our secure online reporting service.

Great Boards – Great Organizations

During fiscal year 2009, the Capacity Building Program offered a series of training workshops for nonprofits, Great Boards-Great Organizations. The series is designed to help organizational teams explore the characteristics of “great” organizations and methods of achieving “greatness.” Groups participating in the program must send an organizational team consisting of the executive director and at least three experienced board members committed to leading the organization in the plan of action to “greatness.” The workshops provided the teams with an understanding of nonprofit purpose and structure, best practices in organizational governance, financial responsibility and leadership skills. In fiscal year 2009, the following 21 nonprofit organizations completed the Great Boards-Great Organizations program:

- Areawide Aging Agency
- Best Friends of Pets
- Cimarron Alliance Foundation
- Executive Service Corps of Central Oklahoma (ESCCO)
- 4 H.I.M. - His Healing Helping Hands International Ministries

After completing the Great Boards-Great Organizations training, nonprofits may combine the knowledge and experience gained through the workshops with the opportunity for a Capacity Building grant to help the organizations achieve the goals identified through the workshop process. For a complete list of all Capacity Building grants awarded in fiscal year 2009, see pages 64–65.

For more information about charitable organization endowments and the Capacity Building Program, please contact Gayle Farley at 405/606-2910 or g.farley@occf.org.
Shannon Carter, literacy instructor at Opportunities Industrialization Center, leads an adult literacy class. OIC is one of many literacy providers using the Get Reading Oklahoma materials to work with adults preparing for the GED exam or need to improve their reading, writing and math skills.
Established in 2005, the Literacy Is For Everyone (LIFE) Initiative provides support to literacy organizations in our community. The Oklahoma City Community Foundation Trustees created the initiative in an effort to address illiteracy and provide all adults and families in the metropolitan area the opportunity to learn to read, write and speak English at a functional level.

Literacy is an essential tool in building a successful community. Adults with strong literacy skills are better equipped to make decisions regarding health care, employment and family finance, and to provide their children early exposure to reading, promoting literacy skills for lifelong learning and education.

The LIFE Initiative works closely with literacy providers to combat illiteracy in the Oklahoma City community by providing resources and funding for training, materials and support for area literacy programs. Through the initiative, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation works to increase community awareness for literacy skills and integrate literacy into social services, job training and other rehabilitation programs.

Get Reading Oklahoma

Launched in 2009, Get Reading Oklahoma is an innovative project designed to assist Oklahoma adults in improving their reading, writing and math skills through readily accessible programming on public and cable television and online video streaming. The project includes TV411, an award-winning basic adult skills series; GED Connection, a television series devoted to improving skills for the GED exam; and www.GetReadingOklahoma.org, a Web site that offers online video streaming of both series and contact information for statewide literacy providers.

Our partners in the Get Reading Oklahoma project include the Oklahoma Educational Television Authority (OETA), Cox Communications, Oklahoma Department of Libraries, the Central Oklahoma Workforce Investment Board, the Oklahoma City Metro Literacy Coalition, the Oklahoma Department of Education and Tyler Media. The GED Connection and TV411 programs aired during June and July on OETA and are also available through Cox’s ON DEMAND Freezone section on channel 1. The programs may also be viewed in Oklahoma City on Cox Channel 18. All episodes are available via online streaming at www.getreadingoklahoma.com.

In addition to the television broadcasts, GED Connection and TV411 workbooks, teachers’ guides and DVDs have been provided to literacy programs, GED providers and public libraries throughout the state. Courtesy of Cox Communications, a toll-free telephone number 1-888-OK2Read (1-888-652-7323) is available for individuals seeking literacy services in their community or who want to volunteer.

“The Get Reading Oklahoma materials are a great complement to our tutoring program,” says Mary Young, director of Project Read, a nonprofit organization based in Edmond, Okla., that provides tutoring for adults. “They are relevant, repeatable and something a learner can utilize on their time schedule. And best of all, they come in a medium that really speaks to the adult population.”

Margaret Annis Boys Trust grants awarded in 2009 are helping Friends of Lake Hefner and the Oklahoma City Audubon Society add 200 trees to public land at the lake.
Margaret Annis Boys Trust/
Parks & Public Spaces Initiative

Through the Margaret Annis Boys Trust and the Parks & Public Spaces Initiative, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation has helped to improve the landscape of our community’s public parks and medians, schools and neighborhoods for the past 18 years. These two funds provide beautification grants and guidance to community-wide projects, in addition to increasing awareness and support for public spaces in the area. For more information on our beautification programs and grants, please contact Brian Dougherty at 405/606-2908 or b.dougherty@occf.org.

Celebrating a Gift of Beauty
Longtime school teacher Margaret Annis Boys was a passionate admirer of native Oklahoma trees and flowers. After her death in 1990, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation received a bequest of $1.5 million from her estate for the purpose of beautifying public lands in central Oklahoma. To date, more than 250 beautification grants have been funded through the Margaret Annis Boys Trust grant program.

In honor of the 100th anniversary of Miss Boys’ birth in 2009, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation proposed to city officials the renaming of the arboretum at Will Rogers Gardens for Margaret Annis Boys in recognition of the significant impact her fund has had on public parks and lands in the community. The 10-acre arboretum at Will Rogers Gardens is often described as a “plant zoo” and showcases a wide variety of ornamental and native trees. The first trees were planted in the arboretum by horticulturist Henry Walter in the 1930s, and today it stands as one of the loveliest arboretums in the state. In July 2009, the Oklahoma City Council voted to rename it the Margaret Annis Boys Arboretum at Will Rogers Gardens. In addition, a Margaret Annis Boys Trust grant was awarded to help create more accessible paths through the arboretum, and a permanent endowment was established to provide for the arboretum’s long-term maintenance. Please see page 7 for more on Margaret Annis Boys.

Lake Hefner Project
In 2009, the nonprofit group Friends of Lake Hefner began a three-year revitalization project to improve and enhance the public land at the lake. Friends of Lake Hefner is a group of Oklahoma City citizens dedicated to the preservation and enhancement of the lake and its surrounding lands. In partnership with The Tree Bank Foundation, Oklahoma City Beautiful and the Oklahoma City Audubon Society, the project was awarded several Margaret Annis Boys Trust grants for the addition of 200 trees to the lake’s public land and other improvements.

Staff
An essential component of the Margaret Annis Boys Trust grant program is Brian Dougherty, a landscape architect and horticulturist. Brian’s expertise and technical assistance are instrumental to the program’s success. Actively involved in many neighborhood associations and civic groups in central Oklahoma, he provides guidance and hands-on consulting on landscaping projects for community improvement. His true appreciation of Oklahoma’s native landscapes combined with Miss Boys’ gift has helped this program make a significant impact on the community. Brian is also the vice president of the American Society of Landscape Architects (ASLA), a professional organization that represents more than 18,000 members.

Clean and Beautiful Schools
Schools occupy a large amount of public land in Oklahoma. Well-maintained and landscaped school campuses can greatly effect the perception of the quality of education and the quality of life in the community. The Clean and Beautiful Schools program was launched in 2000 to support and encourage the improvement and maintenance of elementary school grounds in the area. More than 130 schools have participated in the program, and in fiscal year 2009, two new schools were added: Oklahoma Christian School and Cross Timbers Elementary School in Edmond.

For a list of grants awarded in fiscal year 2009, please see page 64.
Participants and faculty of the 2009 Guidance Counselor Summer Institute.
The Trustee Scholarship Initiative was founded in 1998 with the goal of encouraging more students in central Oklahoma to continue their education after graduating from high school. The initiative is comprised of five scholarship programs and the Central Oklahoma Guidance Counselor Network and has awarded nearly $3 million in scholarship funds to more than 1,500 students.

The Central Oklahoma Guidance Counselor Network is designed to offer training and support for high school guidance counselors at 50 public and private high schools in central Oklahoma. In an effort to ensure that these counselors are equipped with the most up-to-date information to assist students in preparing for a post-secondary education, the network offers various workshops and coordinates visits to college campuses for participating counselors. Additionally, each year at least one Community Foundation Scholar award is provided to each high school with a participating guidance counselor.

Guidance Counselor Summer Institute
In June 2009, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation hosted a summer institute to train high school guidance counselors in a curriculum focused on the college admissions process. Held at the Meinders School of Business on the campus of Oklahoma City University, the institute provided attendees with the latest updates on college admissions standards, financial aid information and tips on helping high school students prepare for higher education.

“I found this institute to be extremely valuable as I have only been in the profession for one year,” says participant Ashley B. “I will definitely have a better understanding of what I can do for my students in the future.”

The two-day institute was attended by 35 high school guidance and college admission counselors and featured faculty instructors from the membership of College Board and the Texas Association for College Admission Counseling.

Scholarship Programs
The Community Foundation Scholars program awards scholarships to college-bound students who may not qualify for the most competitive academic scholarships, but are good students involved in school and civic activities. In 2009, 76 scholarships of $1,500 each were awarded.

Through the Foundation of Promise Scholars program, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation helps students to become the first in their family to attend college. Applicants are juniors in high school and agree to complete college preparatory activities, including a campus visit. In 2009, 78 students received a $1,500 Foundation of Promise award.

The Oklahoma Youth With Promise program assists students who have graduated from high school while in Oklahoma’s foster care system and wish to pursue a post-secondary education. Most recently, 45 students were awarded scholarships through this program.

The goal of the Non-Traditional Scholar program is to assist adults re-entering the educational system by working through several agencies to identify adults who have completed one educational program and possess the ability and desire to advance to another program. Mentoring support is provided to recipients through their sponsoring organizations.

In 2003, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation established the Nurse Education Program to address the staffing challenges facing the area’s nonprofit hospitals. Scholarships are provided to nurses employed at any of the five participating hospitals who are seeking an associate degree in nursing, an RN certification or a bachelor’s degree in nursing. Most recently, the program awarded $32,000 in scholarships.

For more information about the Trustee Scholarship Initiative, please contact Anna-Faye Rose at 404/606-2902 or a.rose@occf.org.

In Memory: Don Finch

On May 4, 2009, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation lost its good friend, Don Finch. Don earned a fine arts degree from Oklahoma State University in 1953 and initially worked for Sun Oil Company in Dallas until 1978 when he moved to Oklahoma City. He worked as the operations director for the Oklahoma City Museum of Art before accepting the position of director of the Oklahoma Air & Space Museum, a job he would stay in for 10 years. During his tenure, Don was inducted into the Oklahoma Air & Space Hall of Fame. Following his retirement, Don managed the Colonial Art Gallery and worked as a consultant to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation.

In Memory: Nancy Michaels Berry

Nancy Michaels Berry lived a passionate life, devoting her time and talents to the causes she cared about. As the first full-time executive director of the Oklahoma City Community Foundation, she was a great supporter of the organization for nearly 40 years.

A Kansas native, Nancy grew up in Tulsa and graduated from Holland Hall High School. She attended Wellesley College and later graduated from the University of Oklahoma. Nancy served as the executive director of the Oklahoma City Community Foundation from 1975-1978 and was instrumental in helping founder John Kirkpatrick communicate his vision for the organization. In 1980 she moved to New York City where she worked for Project Orbis and the National Executive Service Corps. After retiring, Nancy traveled throughout Europe and the United States.

Following Nancy’s death in January 2009, her family established the Nancy Michaels Berry Memorial Fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to honor her lifetime commitment to philanthropy.

The economic turmoil that began in 2008 and continued into 2009 created an immensely challenging time for investment professionals. The Oklahoma City Community Foundation’s Investment Committee’s commitment to quality and diversified investments helps to buffer the impact of volatile markets. During fiscal year 2009, the committee met often with our investment professionals and followed the disciplined approach required for a long-term investment strategy while utilizing short-term tactical allocations to add value where there was opportunity. This commitment helped the general investment pool survive the turmoil with as little damage as possible.

As a result, our rate of return on the general investment pool for fiscal year 2009 was -14.61 percent. This compares to a benchmark return of a -15.20 percent for a composite market index. In addition, the average return for 290 foundations reporting to the Commonfund Benchmark Survey was a -26.0 percent.

Investment Performance Pooled Investments
The investment policy of the Oklahoma City Community Foundation calls for a portfolio of stocks and bonds that is highly diversified. Capital preservation, protection against inflation and long-term growth are the fundamental objectives of our investment strategy. Asset allocation and investment discipline are critical elements for good long-term investment performance.

Responsibility for investment policy and manager selection rests with a seven-member Investment Committee composed of four Trustees or former Trustees and three non-Trustee Oklahoma City community leaders with strong investment expertise. The fiscal year 2009 Investment Committee is listed on page 67.

This committee, along with investment counsel, Hotchkiss Associates LLC of Chicago, Illinois, determines asset allocation between equity and fixed income investments. Currently, the target percentage of the general pool invested in equities is 62.5 percent, with 32.5 percent in fixed income investments and 5 percent in cash.

To provide diversity in the portfolio, the committee addresses allocation to different styles of equity management and style-specific professional investment managers. Investment portfolios and performance are reviewed quarterly by the investment committee, with the managers being judged on a time horizon of three to five years. The benchmark used for the general investment pool return is a weighted average of the S&P500 index (65 percent) and the Barclays Intermediate Government Credit Index (35 percent). Individual managers are compared to style-specific market indices.

Independent Auditors’ Report

The Board of Trustees
Oklahoma City Community Foundation, Inc.
Oklahoma City, Oklahoma

We have audited the accompanying consolidated statements of financial position of Oklahoma City Community Foundation, Inc. and its affiliated organizations (the “Foundation”) as of June 30, 2009 and 2008, and the related consolidated statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended. These consolidated financial statements are the responsibility of the Foundation’s management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Foundation’s internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Oklahoma City Community Foundation, Inc. and its affiliated organizations as of June 30, 2009 and 2008, and the changes in their net assets and their cash flows for the years then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

As discussed in Notes A and I to the consolidated financial statements, the Foundation implemented the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Staff Position No. 117-1: Endowments of Not-for-Profit Organizations: Net Asset Classification of Funds Subject to an Enacted Version of the Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act, and Enhanced Disclosures for All Endowment Funds. Based on the legal opinion and the Board of Trustees interpretation of the Oklahoma Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act the Foundation reclassified net assets of $393,000,000 from unrestricted net assets to temporarily restricted net assets as of July 1, 2007.

Our audits were made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the consolidated financial statements taken as a whole. The Oklahoma City Community Foundation and Affiliated Organizations--Schedule of Assets is presented for purposes of additional analysis of the consolidated financial statements and is not a required part of the basic financial statements. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audits of the consolidated financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the consolidated financial statements taken as a whole.

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
OKLAHOMA CITY COMMUNITY FOUNDATION, INC.
June 30, 2009
NOTE A—ORGANIZATION AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES—Continued

The affiliated organizations are included with the Foundation in the accompanying financial statements because the Foundation has an economic interest in the organizations and controls the affiliated organizations’ boards of trustees. Further, distributions made by the affiliated organizations exclusively benefit the charitable and educational purposes of the Foundation. All material inter-organization transactions have been eliminated.

Basis of Presentation: Financial statement presentation follows the recommendations of the Financial Accounting Standards Board in its Statements of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 116, Accounting for Contributed Resources; No. 117, Financial Statements of Not-for-Profit Organizations; and No. 136, Transfers of Assets to a Not-for-Profit Organization or Charitable Trust That Raises or Holds Contributions for Others.

Net Asset Classifications: In August 2008, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued Staff Position No. 117-1: Endowments of Not-for-Profit Organizations: Net Asset Classification of Funds Subject to an Enacted Version of the Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act, and Enhanced Disclosures for Endowment Funds (FAS No. 117-1). FAS 117-1 provides guidance on the net asset classification of donor-restricted endowment funds for a not-for-profit organization that is subject to an enacted version of the Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act of 2006 (UPMIFA). FAS 117-1 also improves disclosures about an organization’s endowment funds (both donor-restricted endowment funds and board-designated endowment funds) whether or not the organization is subject to UPMIFA.

The State of Oklahoma adopted UPMIFA effective November 1, 2007 (“OK UPMIFA”) and the Foundation has adopted FAS 117-1 as of July 1, 2007. The Board of Trustees (the “Trustees”) of the Foundation has interpreted OK UPMIFA to require the Foundation to exercise prudence in determining whether to spend from or accumulate to donor-restricted endowment funds with a view toward the permanent nature and long-term continuing viability of such funds, rather than the maintenance of the historic dollar value thereof, absent explicit donor stipulations to the contrary.

As a community foundation, in accordance with United States Treasury Regulations, the Foundation possesses variance power. Variance power is the unilateral right to remove donor-imposed restrictions upon a gift in response to changed circumstances. The Foundation interprets its variance power to apply to time restrictions and endowment restrictions as well as purpose restrictions. This power is exercised only in defined circumstances. Therefore, this power is incorporated by reference in the gift instruments for all of the donor-restricted endowment fund gifts received by the Foundation, the Foundation views its variance power as an explicit expression of donor intent.

The legal opinion approved by the Trustees concluded that gifts to the Foundation may be subject to one or more of three types of donor-imposed restrictions: (1) contributions received with restrictions as to the purpose(s) for which the gift may be used (“purpose restriction”); (2) contributions received with a requirement that the principal of the gift be retained for a specified period of time (“time restriction”); and (3) contributions received with a requirement that the principal of the gift be retained permanently (“endowment restriction”). The Trustees have determined that the Foundation’s variance power is generally exercised to remove any donor-imposed restrictions upon any gift in response to changed circumstances. As a result of this interpretation, the Foundation classifies temporarily restricted net assets as unrestricted net assets.

As a result of this interpretation, the Foundation classifies as temporarily restricted net assets: (a) the original value of gifts donated to the permanent endowment; (b) the original value of subsequent gifts to the permanent endowment; and (c) accumulations to the permanent endowment made in accordance with the direction of the applicable donor gift instrument at the time the accumulation is added to the fund.

Cash and Cash Equivalents: The Foundation considers all highly liquid investments with a maturity of three months or less when purchased, excluding cash equivalent funds held in the Foundation’s investment portfolio, to be cash equivalents.

Investments: Substantially all securities and other investments are managed by various investment managers.

Cash Equivalent Funds and Securities: Cash equivalent funds, U.S. government obligations, asset backed obligations, bonds, mutual funds, equity index funds, bond index funds, and common and preferred stocks are reported at fair value in the accompanying consolidated financial statements. The value of gains and losses on sales of most U.S. government obligations and asset backed obligations are computed on the average cost basis. Realized gains and losses on sales of all other securities are determined using the first in first out (FIFO) method.

Real Estate: Real estate is carried at cost or, if donated, the estimated fair value at the date of donation, net of accumulated depreciation of approximately $2,121,000 and $1,721,000 at June 30, 2009 and 2008, respectively. Substantially all real estate is leased to a related party under four non-cancelable lease agreements which expire between 2010 and 2016. There are no expense obligations for the Foundation under these lease agreements. Future minimum payments under non-cancelable leases are expected to range from approximately $534,000 to $848,000 per year through 2014 and total $569,000 thereafter.

Limited Partnership Interests: Investments in limited partnership interests are reported at estimated fair value. Fair value is generally determined by independent appraisal at the time the gift is made and is revalued periodically using information relating to the value of the underlying assets and other factors deemed relevant to the valuation. During 2009, the general partner of one of the Foundation’s limited partnership interests entered into a subscription participation agreement in which the general partner is also the lender. At June 30, 2009, the participation interest is estimated to have a fair value of approximately $4,162,000.

Contributions Receivable: Contributions receivable which arise primarily from trusts and estates, are carried at present value at the financial statement date. This valuation assumes collection within one year; however, due to the nature of the receivables, the final settlement dates are uncertain. All amounts are expected to be fully collected. Contributions receivable are due from two donors at June 30, 2009 and 2008. Conditional promises to give are not recognized until they become unconditional, that is when the conditions on which they depend are substantially met. No amounts have been recognized in the consolidated financial statements for conditional promises to give, which generally arise from the Foundation being named as a beneficiary in a revocable will or trust. At June 30, 2009 and 2008, conditional promises to give of $378,000 and $1,240,000, respectively, have been estimated by the management of the Foundation.

Collections: The Foundation does not include either the cost or the value of its collections in the consolidated statements of financial position, nor does it recognize gifts of collection items as revenues in the consolidated statements of activities.

Administrative Fees: Administrative fees are charged to the funds based upon market value. The income from these fees, along with income from an administrative endowment fund, provides the dollars for the general and administrative expenses of the Foundation.

Other Assets: Other assets consist primarily of life insurance policies in which the Foundation is the beneficiary. These assets are carried at their cash surrender values and all other assets are carried at cost, or, if donated, at the fair value at the date of donation.

Assets Held for Others: Assets held for others represents the portion of assets related to charitable lead and remainder Trusts in which the Foundation is the trustee that are held for the donor or other designated beneficiary and amounts due to recipients as agency transfers. The liability for assets held for others under the terms of the agreements is equal to the present value of the expected future payments to be made to the donor or other designated beneficiary. The liability for assets held for others on agreements in which the Foundation is named as the charitable beneficiary but the designation is revocable is equal to the fair value of the assets. The liability for agency transfers totals $10,000 at June 30, 2009. There is no liability for agency transfers at June 30, 2009.

Contributions Received: Contributions received are generally recorded as unrestricted net assets, unless they are subject to time restrictions or endowment restrictions, in which case they are classified as temporarily restricted net assets. It is the expressed intention of the Foundation to honor the designations of donors; however, the Foundation reserves the right to exercise final control over all funds.

Donated Assets: Donated marketable securities and other noncash donations are recorded as contributions at their estimated fair values at the date of the donation.

Donated Services: No amounts have been reflected in the consolidated financial statements for donated services. The Foundation pays for most services requiring specific expertise.

Grants and Program Services: Grants and program services represent amounts awarded to various not-for-profit organizations to assist with funding of general operations or special programs. Grants and program services payable consist of unconditional amounts awarded, but not paid, to not-for-profit organizations. Grants to be paid after one year are discounted to net present value. Grants dependent on the occurrence of a specified and uncertain event are not recognized until the conditions on which they depend are substantially met.

Functional Allocation of Expenses: The costs of providing the various programs and other activities have been summarized on a functional basis in the consolidated statements of activities. Costs are allocated between development, general and administrative, or grants and program services based on the relative percentage of allocated expenses. General and administrative expenses include those expenses that are not directly identifiable with any other specific function, but provide for the overall support and direction of the Foundation.

Income Tax Status: The Foundation and its affiliated organizations are exempt from federal income tax under Section 501(a) of the Code (as an organization described in Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code (the "Code"), and have been determined not to be a private foundation under Section 509(a)(3) of the Code. As a result, income taxes are not included in the accompanying consolidated financial statements.

Accounting for Uncertain Tax Positions: In June 2006, the FASB issued Interpretation No. 48, "Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes." FIN 48 provides detailed guidance for the financial statement recognition, measurement and disclosure of uncertain tax positions recognized in an enterprise’s financial statements in accordance with SFAS No. 109, "Accounting for Income Taxes". FIN 48 requires the financial statement presentation of the financial statement impact of a tax position and it is more likely than not that the position will be sustained upon examination. On December 30, 2008, the FASB issued FASB Staff Position FIN 48-3 which deferred the effective implementation date of FIN 48 to the Foundation’s annual financial statements ending on June 30, 2010, and the Foundation has elected to defer application of FIN 48. The Foundation does not expect that the adoption of FIN 48 will have a material effect on its financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

Concentration of Credit Risk: The Foundation maintains cash in bank deposit accounts that, at times, may exceed federally insured limits. The Foundation has not experienced any losses in such accounts and believes that it is not exposed to any significant credit risk on cash or cash equivalents.

Use of Estimates: The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosed contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Significant Estimates: Estimates that are particularly susceptible to significant change include the valuation of investment in cash equivalent funds and securities, investment in limited partnership interests, investment in other assets, beneficial interest in charitable lead trust, and contributions receivable. The Foundation’s various investment instruments including beneficial interests, are exposed to various risks, such as interest rate, credit, and overall market volatility. Due to the level of risk associated with these financial instruments, it is reasonably possible that changes in the values of the investments and beneficial interest will occur in the near term and that such changes could materially affect the amounts reported in the consolidated statement of financial position. Significant fluctuations in fair values could occur from year to year and the amounts the Foundation will ultimately realize could differ materially. Management’s estimate of contributions receivable and evaluation of allowance is based on consideration of all relevant available information and an analysis of the collectability of individual contributions, which arise primarily from estates and bequests, at the financial statement date.

Fair Value Measurements: On July 1, 2008, the Foundation adopted Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 157, Fair Value Measurements ("FAS 157") with respect to financial assets and liabilities. FAS 157 defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. Fair value under SFAS 157 is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. FAS 157 establishes a fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value into three broad levels. The following is a brief description of those three levels:

Level 1: Quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities;
Level 2: Inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data; and
Level 3: Inputs that are unobservable and significant to the overall fair value measurement.

Financial assets and liabilities carried at fair value on a recurring basis and therefore, currently subject to FAS 157 include investment in cash equivalent funds and securities, investment in limited partnership interests, investment in other assets, beneficial interest in charitable lead trust, and agency transfers subject to SFAS 136.

Reclassifications: Certain reclassifications have been made to the June 30, 2008, consolidated financial statements to conform to the classifications used at June 30, 2009.

The Foundation holds closely held stock with a fair value of approximately $3,359,000 and $5,230,000 at June 30, 2009 and 2008, respectively, which is included in common and preferred stocks in the above table. A trustee of the Foundation serves as a director of this closely held company.

NOTE C--FAIR VALUE MEASUREMENTS

The Foundation uses quoted market prices to determine the fair value of an asset or liability when available. If quoted market prices are not available, the Foundation determines fair value using valuation techniques, generally the market approach and/or income approach, to determine fair value.

The following methods and assumptions were used to estimate the fair value of assets and liabilities in the financial statements.

Cash and Cash Equivalents: The asset’s carrying amount approximates fair value due to its short maturity.

Investments in Cash Equivalent Funds and Securities: These assets are stated at fair value based on the current market value of the assets in the portfolio. Quoted market prices are used, when available, or the best estimate of fair value as determined by the Foundation or the investment manager. Generally, quoted market prices are available for mutual funds and common and preferred stocks, index funds are stated at market price as determined by the fund manager, and U.S. government and asset backed obligations are stated at market price as determined by independent third party pricing services. Closely held stock is stated at fair value as determined by the Foundation using valuation techniques which are relevant in the circumstances.

Investments in Limited Partnership Interests: Partnership interests are stated at fair value as determined by the fund manager and/or the Foundation. Generally, fair value is based on the fair value of the underlying assets, independent appraisal, and/or other factors deemed relevant to the valuation.

Investments in Real Estate: Investments in real estate are carried at the lower of cost or fair value. As all investments in real estate were donated to the Foundation, the fair value of the real estate on the contribution date was determined by independent appraisal. Given the short time period since the gift date, the Foundation believes that the fair value today is not materially different from the fair value at the time of donation. Real estate investments are estimated to have a fair value of approximately $11,300,000 and $11,500,000 at June 30, 2009 and 2008, respectively.

Investments in Other: Other investments are stated at fair value as determined by the Foundation. The Foundation values these assets using a combination of the income and market approach valuation techniques.

Contributions Receivable: The fair value is based on the present value of the expected future cash flows and due to the short maturities of the receivables the carrying value approximates fair value.

Beneficial Interest in Lead Trust: The beneficial interest is carried at fair value which is based on the present value of the expected future cash flows from the trust.

Other Assets: The primary other asset is cash surrender values on life insurance policies for which the Foundation is the beneficiary and as such the carrying values approximate fair value.

Accounts Payable and Accrued Liabilities: The carrying amount of the liability approximates fair value due to its short maturity.
The following table summarizes the changes in the fair value of the Foundation’s Level 3 financial assets for the period ending June 30, 2009:

Transfers to a third party

Balance at June 30, 2009

Investments in cash equivalent funds and securities: When quoted prices are available in an active market, securities are classified within Level 1 of the hierarchy. Investments classified as Level 1 include cash and cash equivalents, common and preferred stocks which are actively traded, and mutual funds. Equity and bond index funds are classified within Level 2 of the hierarchy due to the underlying assets and the risk of nonperformance by the trust manager. The significant unobservable inputs required to estimate the fair value of these investments, the Foundation’s investments in limited partnerships are all classified as Level 3 within the hierarchy.

Investment in limited partnership interests: The fair value of interests in limited partnerships is determined by the Foundation using a combination of the market and income approach valuation techniques. In some cases independent appraisals are obtained and then discounted to fair value. Agency transfers subject to SFAS 136. The fair value of the liability is based on the fair value of the assets held by the Foundation for the benefit of the agency.

Investment in other assets: The fair value of other investments are determined by the Foundation’s management using valuation techniques (such as the market and/or income approach) and consideration of other factors deemed relevant in the circumstances. Due to the significant unobservable inputs required to estimate the fair value of these investments, the Foundation’s investments in other assets are classified as Level 3 in the hierarchy.

Beneficial interest in lead trust: The fair value of the underlying trust assets are based on quoted market prices when available or the best estimate of fair value as determined by the trust manager. The Foundation’s valuation technique considers the fair value of the assets held in the trust and applies a discount rate to convert such amounts to a single present value amount. The discount rate used by the Foundation reflects current market conditions including the inherent risk in the underlying assets and the risk of nonperformance by the trustee. Due to the significant unobservable inputs required to estimate the expected future cash receipts from the trust agreements, the Foundation’s beneficial interest is classified as Level 3 in the hierarchy.

Agency transfers subject to SFAS 136: The fair value of the liability is based on the fair value of the investment assets held by the Foundation for the benefit of the recipient agency. The specific assets held for the benefit of the agency have been classified within the hierarchy for investment in cash equivalent funds and securities (as discussed above). The related and associated liability is classified as Level 2 in the hierarchy because principal inputs (i.e., fair value of assets in the portfolio) are all classified as Level 1 or Level 2 and therefore are corroborated by observable market data.

The Foundation is a beneficiary of a charitable lead trust for which it does not serve as trustee. Under the charitable lead trust agreement, the trust will pay 7% of the net fair market value of the trust estate to the Foundation over the next 15 years and the assets remaining at the end of the trust term will be distributed to a third party beneficiary. The fair value of the Foundation’s beneficial interest is based on the present value of the estimated expected future cash inflows using discount rates of 2% and 3.8% at June 30, 2009 and 2008, respectively. The Foundation received distributions of approximately $0 and $358,000 during the years ended June 30, 2009 and 2008, respectively. A distribution of approximately $586,000 was received subsequent to June 30, 2009. Changes in fair value of the beneficial interest are reflected as a change in value of split-interest agreements in the consolidated statements of activities.

NOTE J—COLLECTIONS

The Foundation maintains various collections of works of art, historical treasures, and similar assets. These collections are maintained for public exhibition, education, and research in furtherance of public service rather than for financial gain. These assets are protected, kept unencumbered, cared for, and preserved by the Kirkpatrick Center Affiliated Fund. As a matter of policy, the proceeds of items in collections that are sold are used to acquire other items for collections.

NOTE K—CONTRIBUTED SERVICES

Several of the Foundation’s trustees who assist the Foundation with special projects provide contributed services. No amounts have been recognized in the consolidated statements of activities because the criteria for recognition have not been satisfied.
NOTE L--RETIREMENT PLAN AND OTHER BENEFITS

Substantially all employees of the Foundation participate in the Retirement Plan of Oklahoma City Community Foundation, Inc. (the “Plan”), commonly known as a Section 403(b) plan. Under the Plan, the Foundation contributes 10% of the respective employee’s regular salary to provide retirement benefits. In addition, employees may contribute a specified percentage of their regular salary to the Plan. The total amount contributed by the Foundation and the employee cannot exceed 100% of the employee’s regular salary, subject to Internal Revenue Service limitations. Contributions made by the Foundation are 100% vested after six years of service. Benefits paid under the Plan are limited to the sum of the employee’s and the Foundation’s contributions and investment earnings on those contributions. The Foundation contributed approximately $160,000 and $134,000 to the Plan during the years ended June 30, 2009 and 2008, respectively.

The Foundation has entered into severance benefit agreements with select key executives. Split-dollar life insurance premiums of approximately $181,000 and $169,000 are included in other assets, and severance benefits payable of approximately $311,000 and $331,000 are included in accounts payable and other liabilities at June 30, 2009 and 2008, respectively.

NOTE M--AGENCY TRANSFERS SUBJECT TO SFAS 136

The Foundation follows the provisions of SFAS 136, Transfers of Assets to a Not-for-Profit Organization or Charitable Trust That Raises or Holds Contributions for Others. This statement establishes standards for transactions in which the Foundation accepts a contribution from a donor and agrees to transfer those assets, the return on investment of those assets or both to another entity that is specified by the donor. SFAS 136 specifically requires that if a not-for-profit organization establishes a fund at a community foundation with its own funds and specifies itself or one of its affiliated organizations as the beneficiary of that fund, the community foundation must account for the transfer of such assets and the activity associated with those assets as a liability.

The Foundation maintains variance power, as described in the governing documents of the Foundation, and legal ownership over these funds and, as such, continues to report the funds as assets of the Foundation. Variance power assures donors that if the charitable purpose of their contribution becomes impractical or impossible, the distributions will be directed to similar purposes in the community. A liability for agency transfers subject to SFAS 136 has been established for the fair value of the assets contributed by not-for-profit organizations for their benefit in the amount of approximately $64,137,000 and $74,923,000 at June 30, 2009 and 2008, respectively.

NOTE N--SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

In accordance with SFAS No. 165, Subsequent Events, the Foundation has evaluated subsequent events through September 28, 2009, which is the date the consolidated financial statements were available to be issued. There are no recognized or non-recognized subsequent events included in the consolidated financial statements or related footnotes.
